The School and Community-based Counselling Service – who we are

The service in Monmouthshire operates in four secondary schools, in alternate provision education settings, in community venues and via online and phone mediums (phone/audio, video, chat, email). As a counsellor joining our service you will have the opportunity deliver your skills working with 11-18 year olds, and the particular therapeutic themes that come with this client group.

The counselling team sit within the wider Therapeutic and Family Support Service that is made up of family therapists, play therapists, and direct therapeutic workers.

Our Purpose

The counselling service is an integral part of the wellbeing offer that Monmouthshire County Council put forward to young people. With a face to face presence in secondary schools, alternative education settings, community venues and with our online and phone therapy (OPT) options, the service aims to be accessible to all young people who might request support. With strong links to multi-agency processes in the county (such as Early Help Panel), the counselling service is at the forefront of a systemic approach to young people's wellbeing.

The Purpose of this Role

- To provide Counselling to young people who have self referred, or have been referred, and support them with their emotional health and well-being.
- To be able to support young people to express their thoughts and feelings and to do so within experiences such as abuse and trauma, self injury and suicidal ideation, family conflict and change, identity themes, and academic stresses.
- To work in collaboration with parents/carers and professionals, utilising counselling knowledge and expertise to strengthen the multi-disciplinary effort and enhance the outcomes for young people.
- To undertake assessment and evaluation practices as a matter of course, and build on these casework formulations by assisting the service in its participatory and report-writing means of evidencing service impact.

Expectation and Outcomes of this Role

It is a goal of the service that young people in Monmouthshire have access to a proficient and consistent staff team and have the opportunity to achieve outcomes that are important to them. You will be expected to manage a caseload of clients and be responsible for working within your areas of competence and proficiency. Counsellors must be able to manage their time well and have a firm grasp and application of self care practices. There are recording processes that build on these outputs and outcomes. You will be well supported throughout all the aspects of the role and in a manner that honors the particular autonomy and independence that comes with the counselling profession.

All employees and volunteers will be trained to the appropriate level of safeguarding and have a duty to fulfil their personal responsibilities for safeguarding.

Role responsibilities

1. 4. To be resilient and model a calm approach to young people who contextually may present with verbal and physical challenges to their environment and teaching staff; or who in contrast may be hesitant to verbalise their needs and show much anxiety with meeting new people. You will have an excellent proficiency in managing your own communication and body language to build rapport with clients.
5. To be able to utilise an understanding of therapeutic relationships that engages young people as individuals separate from the problems they present with. To work with an inclusive mind-set and be able to consider how young people experience exclusion, both specifically and generally in their lives.
6. To engage in assessment and evaluation practices as a matter of course. This includes qualitative means of summarising strengths and difficulties, contextual factors, client meanings and goals for the support. It also includes a quantitative summary of needs and outcomes via YPCore.
7. To work with a whole-school and community-wide ethos that will lead to universal and individual outcomes. This will include providing information and guidance to multi-agency staff regarding the counselling service; communicating with referral sources and/or other relevant professionals as needed in order to enhance effective counselling provision. It might also include delivering workshops or using your creativity to enhance displays, leaflets or resources so to raise awareness of counselling.

8. To work in collaboration with parents/carers and professionals, utilising counselling knowledge and expertise to strengthen the multi-disciplinary effort and enhance the outcomes for young people. Such collaboration for example, might include sharing alliance-building strategies that aid the work of other professionals; or utilising knowledge of child development to enable families' understanding of their child's needs.
9. To contribute to professional meetings such as core groups, care co-ordination, or pupil wellbeing meetings as required.
10. To assist with both participatory and report-writing means of evidencing service impact and value. This includes the collection of service-user feedback on the support, and the facilitation of young people-led initiatives that shape the service. To provide case studies and practitioner perspectives on the process/impact of support. To collate client outputs and YPCore themes so the service is able to produce reports for Welsh Government. To embed into practice any service learning or evolution that comes from this data.
11. To maintain up to date and confidential records of all young people using the service; and maintain and monitor appropriate administrative systems with regard to client referrals and caseload tracking.
12. To ensure continued registration with BACP/NCS/UKCP/HCPC or other equivalent accrediting body and to work within the ethical guidelines set by the body.
13. To undertake 30 hours continuing professional development that keeps knowledge and skills up to date (including regular up-dates around Safeguarding). CPD should satisfy any audit processes from the accrediting body. Maintain awareness of changes in legislation and developments in research and good practice.
14. To attend (at least) monthly Clinical Supervision sessions.
15. To attend regular Line Management meetings.
16. To attend team meetings as and when required.
17. To be flexible in approach, delivery and working hours
18. To implement policies and procedures that govern the School and Community-based Counselling Service and the Therapeutic and Family Support Service more broadly.
19. All employees are responsible for ensuring that they act at all times in a way that is consistent with Monmouthshire's Equal Opportunities Policy in their own area of responsibility and in their general conduct. Employees must conform to the Health, Safety and Welfare Policy (and where necessary the attendant risk assessments that have been undertaken) and other such guidelines that support their work. The authority operates a Smoke Free Workplace Policy which all employees are required to follow.

20. To carry out any duties and responsibilities required under the Data Protection Act 2018 to take reasonable care that no unauthorised loss or disclosure of personal data occurs.
21. To work in collaboration with the Designated Officer for Safeguarding and nominated Safeguarding Leads (as they are identified in schools, the School and Community-based Counselling Service and the Therapeutic and Family Support Service). To be aware of the local authority policy on Safeguarding and the wider adherence to the Wales Safeguarding Procedures. Where required, to make referrals to Children's Services in the event of a disclosure and/or concern that a child/young person is 'in need' or at risk of significant harm.
