Paul Anderson - Education Support Practitioner

With extensive experience across diverse educational settings, I have developed an inherent desire to promote the value of education and the passion for empowering children through individualised learning. Having worked in a range of schools and settings within education for almost 20 years I have experienced many roles and developments in education. My initial and later roles being in mainstream primary schools across many year groups. Being passionate about equality and inclusion I transitioned to specialist education settings where I remained for many years and worked tirelessly to promote and nurture the individual child's holistic needs. Being devoted to inclusive education led me to further develop my skills academically by completing a Post Graduate Diploma in Special Educational Needs and professionally by taking on the role of ALNCO and being part of senior leadership teams.

I Love my job because

I contribute to pupils' well being and enable them to develop a desire for lifelong learning and emotional fulfilment.

I get to work and collaborate and learn from so many talented and inspiring professionals.

It is constantly changing and innovating to meet the needs of children and society.

I am passionate about

Supporting children to develop new skills and enabling them to access their unique talents.

Using the wider and natural environment to support physical and emotional development.

Empowering children to use their own abilities to continually learn and be independent.

I am happiest when

I am with my family

I am walking in the mountains

I am watching rugby

People often describe me as

Friendly, caring and devoted

I always try to be

Open minded, fair and supportive
